

Kimberly Jackson, GISP, GIO

Kimberly Jackson is a certified Geographic Information Systems Professional and became Florida's Geographic Information Officer in 2019. After a year of mapping fieldwork in Australia's National Park system, Kim started her career in GIS at the St Johns River Water Management District in 1990.

As Florida's representative to the NOAA Digital Coast Partnership and the National States Geographic Information Council, she is looking forward to meeting you this week and learning about your challenges and successes.